

Mango Crop Report

Updated September 2, 2010

The Mango Crop Report is updated regularly and can be found at mango.org/crop.

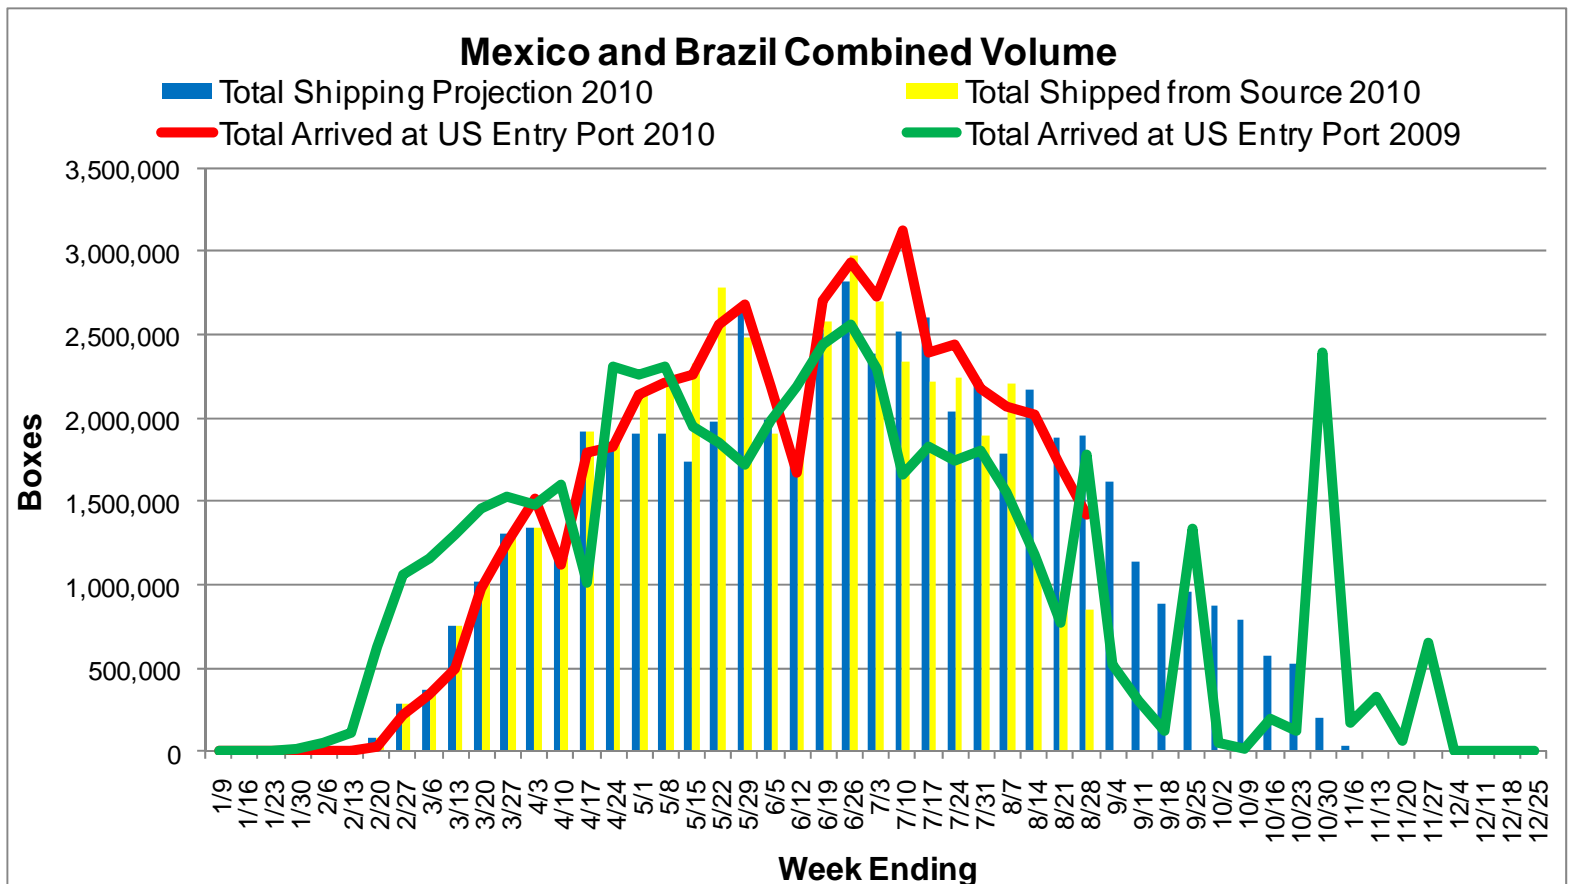

The National Mango Board is working with organizations in the mango-producing countries to get projections of what will be shipped to the U.S. This document contains information from the countries currently shipping or planning to ship in the near future to the United States and does not represent the entire year. The crop report document will be updated as we receive new information from each country. Other valuable tools include (these are links):

Total Volume

See page 5 for data table and sources.

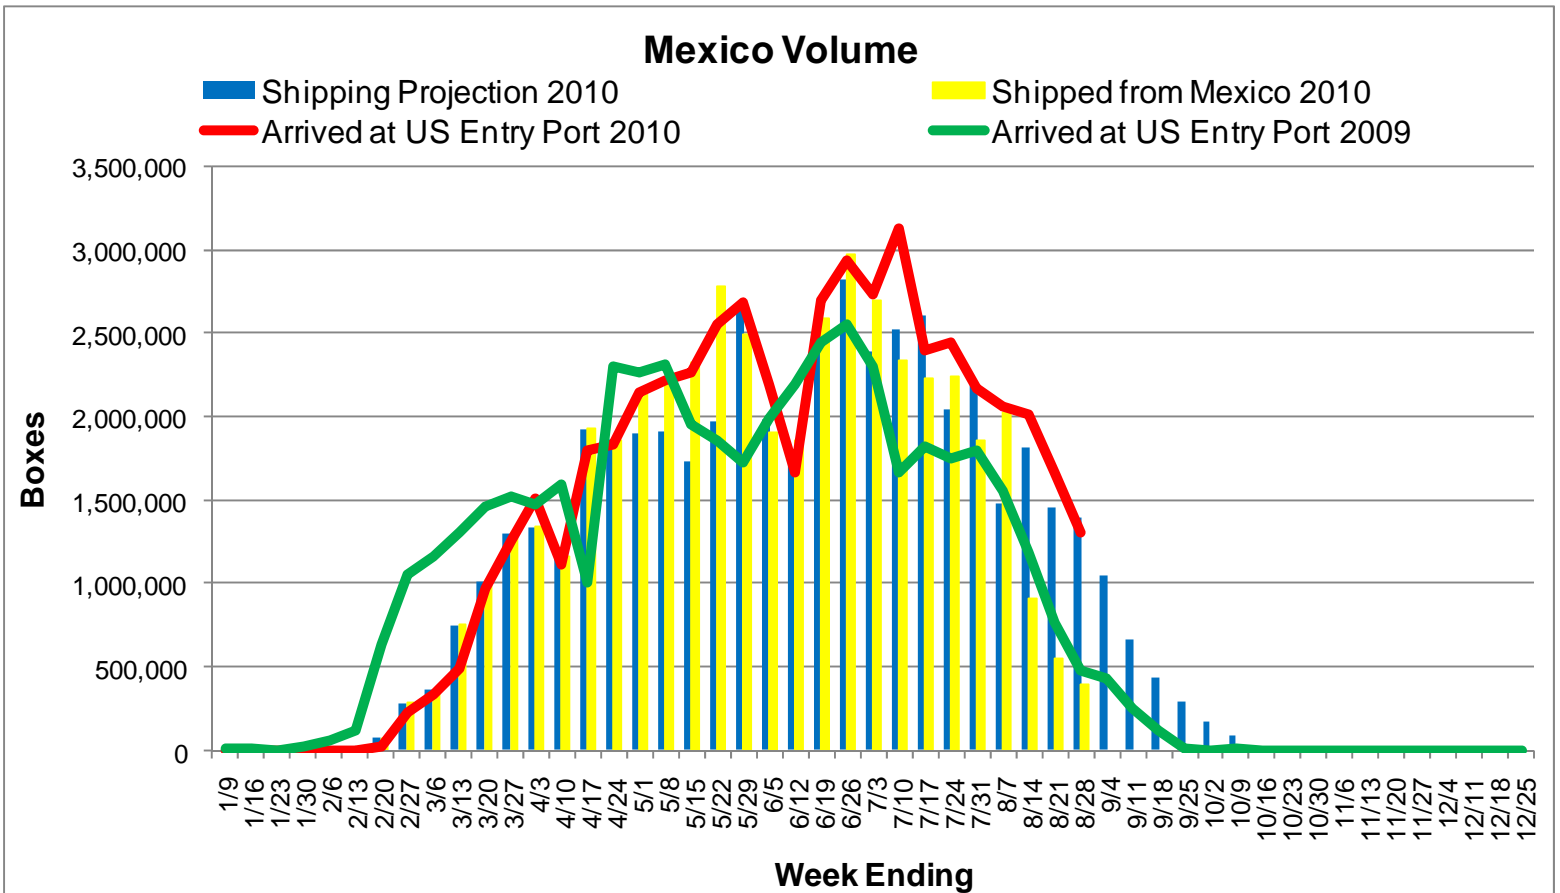

Please note: US entry ports report incoming mango volume on different schedules. Some report daily, some weekly and a few report all the volume for an entire month at one time. This will cause discrepancies between the volume shipped from the source and the volume arrived at the US entry ports in any given week.

Please note: Dates are week-ending. For Shipping Projections and Volume Shipped from Source, allow 3-5 days for arrival at U.S. Ports.

Mexico

The 2010 Mexican mango season started later than usual due to weather conditions. Shipments started with small volumes in late February. Volume increased with the first peak of the season in April through mid-May. Volume shipped from Mexico includes the hot water treatment packinghouses and 2 of 8 fruit fly free zone packinghouses. Projections will be adjusted during the season.

See page 4 for data table and sources.

Please note: US entry ports report incoming mango volume on different schedules. Some report daily, some weekly and a few report all the volume for an entire month at one time. This will cause discrepancies between the volume shipped from the source and the volume arrived at the US entry ports in any given week.
